

Author: *Thomas
M. ...*

...

...

...

...

ABSTRACT

The construction of civic centers, convention centers, stadiums, arenas, and other recreational and sports facilities of the same type are becoming more and more popular as a means of revitalizing central business districts. These types of activities are often promised to have a rather large, positive economic impact not only on the immediate

